3 December 2018

Autumn 2018

Christmas really is coming quickly! Please take a note of all the dates so you do not miss anything.

Christmas dates!

Don't miss our Christmas Carol service tomorrow at St Peter's Church! There are two services, one at 9.30am and the second at 1.30pm. You are invited back to school afterwards for a mince pie. We also have the Christmas Fayre on Wednesday 5th December, 2-4pm. You can collect your children from their classrooms from 2pm onwards. The Infant Nativity is going to be a real treat so make sure you book your tickets.

The switching on of the Newlyn lights takes place on Friday 14th December. The choir will be performing at 6pm. Further details will be sent to those involved nearer the time.

Our last day of term is Thursday 20th December when school closes at 1pm.

Y4

Every year, the shops in Penzance ask schools to decorate a shop window for Christmas. The theme this year is 'trees'. Class 4 have taken up the challenge and have decorated rustic, twig trees with various coloured wools and materials. They look fantastic!

With the help of Mrs Woodruff and Mrs Hankins, the shop window of Causeway Furnishings, on Causewayhead, has been dressed as a wintery scene adorned with the children's Christmas trees.

Please show your support by making sure you have a look in person and voting for our school window by filling in a voting form from other participating shops. Details of all the shop windows have been sent home but if you have missed your leaflet, please see your child's class teacher for a copy.

Bullying or unkind behaviour?

There is little doubt that bullies are not kind to others. They push, shove and call people names. They also might engage in cyberbullying, relational aggression and countless other types of bullying. But what many people do not realize is that not every unkind thing kids do constitutes bullying. Kids, especially young kids, are still learning how to get along with others. They need parents, teachers and other adults to model kindness, conflict resolution, inclusion and responsibility.

As a result, kids will occasionally do or say something that is hurtful. And while it is important to address the behavior, it is inappropriate to label them a bully. Instead, try to distinguish between hurtful or unkind behavior and bullying behavior. For something to constitute bullying, it must contain three elements. These include an imbalance of power, a repetition of hurtful behaviors and an intention to inflict harm. In other words, kids who bully usually are bigger, older or have more social power than their targets. They also do or say more than one mean thing to the target. An example might include mocking, name-calling and insulting the target consistently. And finally, the goal of the bully is to harm the other person in some way so that they have even more control and power over the victim.

Y3 Project Celebration

Last Thursday afternoon Year 3 opened the classroom doors to welcome their adults, and show off the learning so far in their Stone Age project. This week the children have put in a lot of effort to create their own small group presentations which showcased their learning about the Stone Age. The children took it in turns to share some of their knowledge and everyone was impressed with how much the children had learned and how well they spoke. Following the presentation, we had plenty of time to look at the books, the art and pottery from around the class.

Well done Year 3, you have made everyone proud.

The UK's Air Ambulance Services are charities which receive no government funding and rely entirely on charitable donations to continue flying and responding to life threatening medical emergencies. They are now volunteering their time to help raise funds through the recycling of postage stamps. All funds raised will be donated to the Association of Air Ambulances.

SEND YOUR STAMPS IN AN ENVELOPE TO MRS RICHARDS!

Headteacher's Award

Congratulations to the children who received the award this week and also to the children who are now on our tree of virtues for showing the school virtues of respect and responsibility.
